High-class Entertalnment.

Migh-class Entertainment.
The entertainers last night were of first callber, and amused the crowd from renditions of classical solica in the baseo profundi style to Hebrew Empersonations. Arthur Pierce copied Bert Williams' style of vaudeville act, and won large acclaims. William H. Cavanaugh gave gayeral clever imitations and songs of the Yidish class, and won much applause. Mr. Cavanaugh later led the crowd in singing the gies songs written by Tony Sousa, and the audience, at least, increased their vocalistic qualities as they vociferously chortied the Sousa lyrics.

One of the numbers on the programme that gained several recalls was the rendition of dago ditties by Tona da Sous, rected by thinself. These lyrics, originally published in The Hersid, were by the author, and the crowd was only satisfied after they had heard "Walta da Johnes." "Clyde Milano," "Cheka Gandillo," and "Clarka da Greef."

You should own your own home. It should be located at a point where conditions clearly indicate the future. All we ask is a careful consideration of the conditions existing in Chevy Chase. We know that such a study is bound to convince you of the superiority of this section to any other suburban district of Washington. An hour or two spent in Chevy Chase will be profitable, but make that inspection now.
